Fragile peace in Lebanon

War leaves 1,250 dead but yields no victors

BEIRUT, LEBANON—

Guns fell silent across Lebanon on Monday after a ceasefire took effect to end 34 days of war between Israel and Hezbollah that killed more than 1,250 people and wounded thousands.

Diplomats expect the truce to be fragile—tens of thousands of Israeli troops remain in southern Lebanon, and they are expected to withdraw fully until international peacekeepers arrive.

Two shooting incidents soon after the ceasefire's start also have undermined how steady the peace was.

In the first incident, a Hezbollah fighter was shot dead after he fired on Israeli troops in southern Lebanon, Israeli Army Radio said. Hours later, Israeli troops shot and possibly killed a Hezbollah militant aiming his rifle at them.

Israel's air strikes and artillery fire continued until just a few minutes before the truce took effect at 6 a.m. (11 p.m. Manila time).

Then there was silence. At least 30 Lebanese civilians and four soldiers were killed on the last day of fighting as Israeli forces pressed their battle to wipe out Hezbollah until the last minute.

The truce of the battlefield yielded no clear victors.

Despite a desperate 130-hour push by Israel, it appeared that the might of the Israeli military, with its seemingly array of jets, smart bombs, tanks and armor had been fought to a virtual standstill by a small group of Hezbollah guerrillas.

How did that happen?

It wasn't quite the David vs. Goliath conflict it seemed on the surface, analysts said.

An Israeli troop moved in, then encountered a highly trained, deeply motivated force, armed with sophisticated weapons and tactics and a real home advantage.

Oil spill off Guimaras could reach Boracay

THE PHILIPPINE COAST GUARD is racing against time to contain what it officials say could be the worst spill in the country after an oil tanker carrying 2 million liters of bunker fuel sank on Friday off Guimaras Island.

If not contained, the spill could reach Boracay Island, a popular tourist destination famed for its white sand and clear waters, according to a PCG official.

"I can't rule out the possibility that Boracay would be affected. It would depend on whether the oil further spreads and on the direction of the wind and currents," said Lt. Gen. Joseph Corrales, the Coast Guard spokesperson.

The spill already covered 20 sq km as of yesterday and was moving along the coast of Nueva Valencia town (pop. 34,000) in Guimaras.

Environmental groups sound the alarm. Bunker oil is highly toxic and can harm marine life. It is also a major pollutant. It is also a major pollutant. It is also a major pollutant.

BEIRUT, LEBANON—IT IS 5:17 A.M. here and Monday Aug. 14 is less than an hour, the ceasefire is due to take effect.

I get antsy at 5 a.m. because I know. They seemed very close, but the sounds were probably coming from southern Syria, and I am in central Beirut.

The Israelis are bombing up till the last minute. They are under fire.

But I am getting ahead of my story.

Yesterday we were in south Beirut. About two hours after we left, we heard bombs coming from Israeli shells falling on the Shikha neighborhoods in the area.

"We could have been there," says High Hammad of the Muslim and Jewish.

The images of damaged buildings, still smoking ruins and crushed, shell-covered cars are still fresh in my mind—the old day, the old streets, and the bombs I saw as I climbed over the ruins of a 12-story building at the northeast corner of 11 and 12.

"Today is the most dangerous day in this war," the non-militant manager told us as the delegation set off for lunch, thankful for my good luck but also very angry at the Israeli.

Budget Secretary Eduardo Araya Jr., Labor Undersecretary Bernard Macaraig and Overseas Workers Welfare Administration chief Mark Antonio Roque imposed this resolve during yesterday's session of the Senate Finance Committee's hearing on the fund and a P464.4-billion supplemental budget for 2006.

They said officials were anxious to know how the workers would fare and that fighting could flare up once it has been taken into account.

Besides, Roque said, Phil govt Embassy officials wanted to take advantage of the situation to secure Filipino workers from other employers and those who are

With great fanfare, the House majority that has now brought a similar charge to stand by Arroyo announced it would try and open the House at the start today of the hearing of the justice over the case of the opposition's im-

'Garci' men promotion defended

ADMINISTRATION AGAIN, the Congress privately defended the promotion of former Election Commissioner Virgilio "Garci" Sison to the Commission on Election (ComElection), Representative Edwin D. Sison, believed, state of the House committee on House committee and development, and Eduardo "Biboy" Lopez, a member of the powerful Commission on Appropriations, said that some allegations of political favoritism were not grounds to withhold that promotion. They pointed out that the promotions were based on the Commission's official service records and the absence of any formal complaint against them.

House Minority Leader Aquilino Pimentel II, an Sison rival, said the promotion of two Election officials, namely Rey Insulisan, former Malabon President Phil and Donald Almirez. The senator alleged that they helped rig the results of the May 2004 elections to ensure President Macapagal Arroyo's victory.

Sison's promotion officials' services should not be called because of "unsubstantiated allegations." "If the promotion Commission officials have not been charged, then there is no reason to withhold them from service, even so, if they have good service records," he said.

By a majority, said Pimentel and the rest of the opposition had no even listed in the charges or substantiated. Insulisan's complaint against top Commission officials linked with "Vote-Gate" scandal.

Remove Age Spots And Spider Veins: —Get Clear, Flawless And Youthful Skin—

The look of youthful, unblemished skin can now be achieved through the combination of two of the most technologically advanced treatments in skincare. Facial Care Centre offers highly effective procedures to treat age spots and spider veins. Harmony and Intense Pulsed Light (IPL) Photorejuvenation.

Age spots such as freckles, skin discoloration, moles and blemishes are blemishes that you no longer have the skin of a teenager. These unsightly marks may be caused by frequent and unprotected exposure to the sun, scars from acne or other skin trauma, poor diet and bad lifestyle habits.

Spider veins on a formerly flawless face, leg or foot show one way of how aging makes its mark. These are actually normal veins that have expanded and enlarged from the increased pressure of blood in the veins. Wearing high-heeled shoes and even very tight belts and clothing can put pressure on the lower leg and cause a constriction of blood flow from the leg back to the heart. This can result in the appearance of spider veins. As for facial spider veins, they may appear as a result of too much sun exposure. Both types of spider veins can also appear as a result of hormonal changes and inherited factors.

For the effective removal of spider veins, Harmony is a non-invasive, non-occlusive treatment that utilizes a high-energy laser pulse that causes light, targeting both superficial and deep blood vessels. The light is then macrofocally to heat energy, which is absorbed by the blood vessels. This causes the collapse of the blood vessels without any damage to the overlying skin. Compared to sclerotherapy, a process of inserting a fine needle to veins to be treated and injecting them with a solution called a sclerosant, Harmony is completely non-invasive, painless and safe. With sclerotherapy on the other hand, there are risks of infection, "misting," which is bruising as a result of this, and allergy to the sclerosant.

As for unsightly age spots, the IPL or Intense Pulsed Light Photorejuvenation Treatment is the answer. IPL is a non-invasive treatment that uses a broad spectrum of light to treat the face, neck, chest, back, hands and virtually anywhere that age spots, sun damage or blemishes show. It can simultaneously treat a wide variety of skin concerns safely and effectively. The result is younger-looking skin and a clear, even complexion.

Don't let spider veins or various age spots become permanent marks of aging. You can recapture flawlessly clear, youthful skin at any age! Call Facial Care today at 800-9626 (7546).

No hurry to Lafayette mine test, says DENR

THERE'S NO NEED TO RUSH THE test run of leaches and gold mine of Lafayette Mine, DENR Secretary Angelo Reyes said today.

"The test run might have been taking longer than expected, but we should not rush it," Reyes said.

The government-owned Lafayette Mine is a 30-day test run to see if the mine can produce gold in the Philippines. The test run is expected to be completed by the end of the month.

Water interruption in portions of Pateros and Taguig needed to upgrade facilities

Manila Water is currently upgrading its facilities and pipelines to further improve the distribution of water in the East Zone. As part of the program, a large check valve will be installed at the Taguig Booster Pump which will result in a temporary cutoff of water supply in some parts of Pateros and Taguig. The interruption will begin 8:00 p.m., Wednesday, August 16, 2006, up to 4:00 a.m., Thursday, August 17. Affected areas will be: Barangays San Roque, Matines del Rio, Agudo and Sta. Ana, all in Pateros and Barangays Usman, Tukukan, Banteng, Wawa, Sta. Ana, Lower Bicutan and Hagonoy, in Taguig.

All residents of the said areas are advised to store enough water prior to the scheduled interruption to avoid inconvenience.

GMA wants clean 'super projects'

By GIC, CALAGUITA/ABRIL

PHILIPPINE INVESTMENT AUTHORITY (PIA) wants all 'super projects' that will be implemented in the super regions to withstand tough legal scrutiny to prevent them from going the way of the Asian Infrastructure Project and the State Enterprise Privatization Project (SEPP) 1 (SEPP 1) which are still in legal limbo.

To ensure their smooth implementation and completion, the PIA has selected key government agencies involved in the process to look after their legal issues. It has also asked lawyers to make certain the projects have no legal challenges.

"The PIA's role is clear—either you have a legal opinion or if you don't, you withdraw your plan," said the PIA's Director of Justice or DOJ, Office of Government Corporate Counsel (OGCC), said Arthur Tay, chief of the Presidential Management Secretariat (PMS) for the PIA. He said the government expects to spend roughly ₱770 billion over the next five years to build railways (₱300 billion), roads (₱200 billion), airports (₱150 billion), seaports (₱100 billion) and irrigation projects (₱120 billion) as priority projects for the super regions.

"Some law agencies think that the DOJ or OGCC is there because they have the money but they have their own budget items for legal services so for them to get good lawyers on their own," said Tay.

Tay, who was formerly head of the Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources, said that to make sure everything is legal, he would like to see the DOJ or OGCC take on getting the view of its own. "So, we have to make sure that the DOJ or OGCC is not just a rubber stamp but it is an agency that will actually be involved in the project," he said. "It will not be just a rubber stamp but it will be a project that will be involved in the project."

"The legal obstacles are the biggest problem in most of our projects that's why you have the PIA. Invest Authority. Invest Authority," said Tay, who noted that the DOJ or OGCC is there because they have the money but they have their own budget items for legal services so for them to get good lawyers on their own.

"That's why the Supreme Court would be involved in legal consultation."

Tay said this was the reason why Cabinet members should strengthen their legal staff so that all projects would be legally sound. "There are many things, we should study all legal issues because Philippine law is so complex, they are intricate and full of pitfalls. This is why we go into legal trouble and our projects get delayed by legal consultation. There will always be enough people around just to bring down any project," Tay said.

Another problem discussed during the meeting was the government's plan to give away of public property which the President hoped to address by strengthening and clarifying the law.

2 in Ramos slay found guilty

Diplomat's trusted handyman, pal get 20-40 year prison term

By Tere V. Guzman

TWO MEN WERE FOUND GUILTY yesterday of killing former Alaska Governor William A. G. Ramos inside his home in Manila last year, an incident that shocked the diplomatic community.

Roberto Lomangco—the longtime handyman of Ramos—and his friend Juri Aldey were sentenced to life imprisonment, or a prison term of 20 to 40 years, for leaving a fire in Ramos' house in Sanseguin Heights and then struggling her to death.

Another suspect, Michael Condit, was acquitted by the judge for lack of evidence while the case against him lasted. The fourth suspect, who was arrested as he rushed to the scene, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Agout from the prison term, Judge Maria Cristina Conrado of the Manila Regional Trial Court Branch 147 ordered Lomangco and Aldey to pay Ramos' family P100,000 in damages. The two men also ordered to pay monthly P100,000 should they fail to return from their last visit from the victim's house with accessories, weapons, cellular phones and jewelry.

Media men tried to get a reaction from Lomangco and Aldey after the decision was handed down, but they refused to give a statement.

Senior State Prosecutor Emmanuel Velasco, Jr., of the other hand, was happy about the decision.

"We welcome the decision of the court. It shows how important the judge is. We believe the sentence was enough because it was based on evidence and the culpability of the accused," he said.

In his decision, Conrado said that although the prosecution had presented only circumstantial evidence and did not have any eyewitness to prove their case, the admission of both Lomangco and Aldey was enough to establish their guilt.

"The fact that no eyewitness was presented to positively identify the accused weakens the prosecution's case. However, Lomangco and Aldey consistently stated up to the conclusion of the crime," the judge added.

She also pointed out that the evidence presented by the prosecution was not overruled as the accused had waived their right to present evidence in their defense. The judge, meanwhile, threw out Lomangco's argument that he and his cohorts only went to work, not kill, the diplomat.

"It is strange that how Ramos' death was caused. The individuals here in this case died by reason of and/or on the occasion of the robbery. It is not in the killing or on the killing of the victim, even if the killing is not a direct, robbery with homicide is committed," said Conrado.

She also gave weight to the statements of witnesses who said that Aldey, parents of Lomangco's two daughters, who said to appear that they saw Ramos and Aldey talking about breaking into the Ramos residence days before the incident.

Ramos, 64, was the US ambassador to Asia and Pacific Affairs at the time of his death. As the Philippine ambassador in Singapore in 1995, the alleged proximity in government efforts to save the life of this Congressman, a household head guilty of killing another Filipino in the city-state.

MANILA Judge Maria Cristina Conrado

What Went Before

It took almost a year to get to the August 1998 trial of the two men who killed Ramos. Ramos was shot dead by his bodyguard, Aldey, who was shot dead with his cousin, Aldey. Aldey had no idea who shot him. Ramos was shot dead by his bodyguard, Aldey, who was shot dead with his cousin, Aldey. Ramos was shot dead by his bodyguard, Aldey, who was shot dead with his cousin, Aldey. Ramos was shot dead by his bodyguard, Aldey, who was shot dead with his cousin, Aldey.

Authorities suspected the robbery was the motive behind the killing of the former Alaska governor and secretary of state. A P1 million worth of cash and jewelry were reported missing, including a Rolex watch, a diamond ring, a diamond necklace and two diamond earrings. Ramos was shot dead by his bodyguard, Aldey, who was shot dead with his cousin, Aldey. Ramos was shot dead by his bodyguard, Aldey, who was shot dead with his cousin, Aldey.

Lomangco earlier presented evidence to show the defense that he was not involved. He also claimed that he was not involved in the killing of Ramos. Lomangco and Aldey were sentenced to life imprisonment. Condit was acquitted. The fourth suspect, who was arrested as he rushed to the scene, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

ROBERTO Lomangco (left), Juri Aldey and Michael Condit, suspects in the killing of former Alaska Governor William A. G. Ramos, show up in court for sentencing yesterday. Lomangco and Aldey were sentenced to life imprisonment or a prison term of 20 to 40 years, while Condit was acquitted and ordered released.

Bombers slaughter 57 in Iraq operations level the political fallout of the strike.

An inventory dragged more bloodied corpses from rubble left in the Al Othman market by Sunday night's blast, then more car bombs killed those people in downtown Baghdad, said a senior official inside Baghdad's police.

Three minutes later Al Othman's second blast, in a series of attacks on Sunday, by attacking the largely Shiite district of Za'afaraniya, where a combination of religious feuds and sectarian animosity has bred violence.

"We strongly condemn the series of terrorist attacks which were carried out by Saddam Hussein's forces on Sunday which killed dozens of people," the Shiite premier said, in a statement released by his office.

"The government planned this suicide crime to kill as many innocent victims as possible and to cause a rift between the Shiite and Sunni tribes in Iraq," he said. "We will continue to fight against these people," he warned.

An American military official and intelligence sources said the blast in Za'afaraniya—destroying a four-story apartment block—was linked to a series of attacks on Shiite leaders in the district. "There's religious tension. Shiite families were killed," he told AFP from the American Embassy in Baghdad.

The attack marked the worst single loss of life since July 1, when a truck bomb killed 60, and and hand-grenade attacks repeated dozens of seriously wounded civilians during a two-day war from the southeast of the capital.

Meanwhile, police and witnesses said that three more bombs had gone off in downtown Baghdad Monday, killing three more civilians.

Police at the scene of one of the blasts said AFP that the bomb had been fully detonated.

Four American soldiers were also wounded in Baghdad in a rocket attack on the Baghdad "Green Zone," the US and British government, based in the east of Baghdad's government and international military zone.

Al Othman market was also hit, the head of the Australian Defense Force, said that more soldiers had already been discharged from hospital while a female soldier remained in hospital in stable condition, he said.

The latest attacks took the toll of 100,000 deaths in Iraq since the US-led coalition invaded the country in 2003, according to the UN.

Shiite supporters of the former president, who died in Baghdad in 2005, are pushing their demands to be allowed to form a new government.

Saudi al-Qaeda leader Osama bin Laden and his followers are also pushing their demands to be allowed to form a new government.

REINFORCED SUPERMARKET 100 launched its "Fast Walk Speed Limit" campaign to promote total wellness for the family.

The bulk of the new campaign is the supermarket's fresh section that offers a wide variety of fruits, vegetables, meats, poultry, dairy, and seafood.

Jody Galia, Baltimore Supermarket's general manager, said the sale selection of products and affordable prices were meant to encourage customers to shop daily.

The Fresh Deciduous also carries hard-stemmed items like string beans, fresh shrimps and asparagus. The California branch also has seasonally grown fresh produce like arugula leaves, chrisi pantsan, broccoli, peas and radish. Inevitably such as cauliflower, pine, chive medley and asparagus, and chilled juices made from organic vegetables like mangoes, cucumber and watermelon.

Other healthy fats include light and non-saturated, such as soybean, canola and olive. Healthy carbohydrates, made from whole and unrefined oil, and a wide selection of low-fat milk and yogurt. Also available are 99 percent lean premium fresh meats and skinless chicken breast.

Submarine Supermarket has special offers under the "Fast Food Speed Lane" campaign. The Apple Bag Special offer selected products at reduced prices.

Dreams can become real

In the search for the best that we can be, we have to begin with who we are

ARE WE AS GOOD BETTER BY?

- There was a happy pill that would magically remove worries from our minds, pain from our hearts and achieve from our bodies.
- A magic wand that could do a little magic and turn us into the most desirable place we can ever have a perfect 10 figure without surgery.
- You could dress fabulously in an instant without spending minutes, even hours, in front of the mirror.
- Just one wish could transform your and other people's outlooks to life.
- We could manage without sleep.

Our bodies would never get sick or age.

These are just some of the fantasies of people who cannot accept reality as it is. They have their own ideas of what reality should be.

Utopian dream

Most of us dream of a perfect world, perfect people and perfect situations. As they say, dreams are free and dreams have the freedom to dream on. However, in the search for the best that we can be, we have to begin with who we are.

Reality check

Truth is, our life is beginning where we are, not where we want to be.

- Happy pill. There is a happy pill. But it's an imaginary one. It is fashioned by the mind, fueled by the heart and sustained by desire. It's not real. It's not real. It's not real.
- Gifts in given for abundance, pink for perfection. More for leading, orange for energy, red for passion and love.

Whatever color you choose, know that it is your subconscious that is deciding. This prompts the what we believe and feel in ways only you can control. So take it daily with no fear of consequences. Smile!

- Magic wand. Much like a happy pill, the wand is all yours to create. Whether it is made of light, it is powerful in one who believes in your mind to do anything, placing the impossible in the realm of possibility.

Once you accept it, know that you will make that expectation your own reality. That's powerful. That's what it's all about. That's what it's all about.

Maybe you've been sitting and listening to a lady's story. There's a good place to sit. The rest of you will need working on. And know that once your mind is made up, you will work toward your own improvement.

Aggress

The fountain of youth is already inside you. As Dr. Oz says in "Aggressive Health: The New Mind," "Look to the best when no one is old. It is nowhere but in yourself."

Believing is powerful. And now you know. You must have the best mindset. Right diet, right attitude, right exercise, right sleep, right work, right rest, right time for prayer and worship.

Your affirmation

"Today is a birthday for a new me! I am a new person!"
